Our single-supplier model

An online portal like no other

With BPO Intelligence you're always in control of your stock – manage print and freight orders online – with use of our proprietary online platform.

Print Management

Advanced Online Portal

We run our own proprietary online portal for quoting, ordering, tracking and reporting of all print and freight orders. BPO Intelligence is a leading provider of such a system to education institutions globally.

Our online ordering system is highly secure and allows for multiple users to request and receive quotes, place orders, upload artwork, approve proofs and provide online job tracking and general reports.

Stock Management

You can manage stock using our online ordering and tracking system, and your stock can be stored at our warehouse located on site at our purpose built facility.

When stock is running low, we can set an alert to notify you automatically. Due to our flexibility, you can place additional orders and monitor stock levels at any time.

Freight Management

Job Tracking

Our proprietary online portal receives data feeds from our courier providers, which means all shipments can be tracked within the system.

Invoicing

Orders can be charged to individuals, departments, faculties, region and/or cost centres. Quotes and invoices can be stored on the system for download. We can also set up an approval workflow so nominated users can be given order request rights. These requests will then be routed to the nominated staff for approval.

Global Agent Directory

You gain access to our agent database, offering you updated contact information for agents and their offices worldwide. This ensures you have the most up-to-date contact information.

Event Database

You're provided access to our event database, so you always know in advance what important events, open days, and/or conferences are coming up.

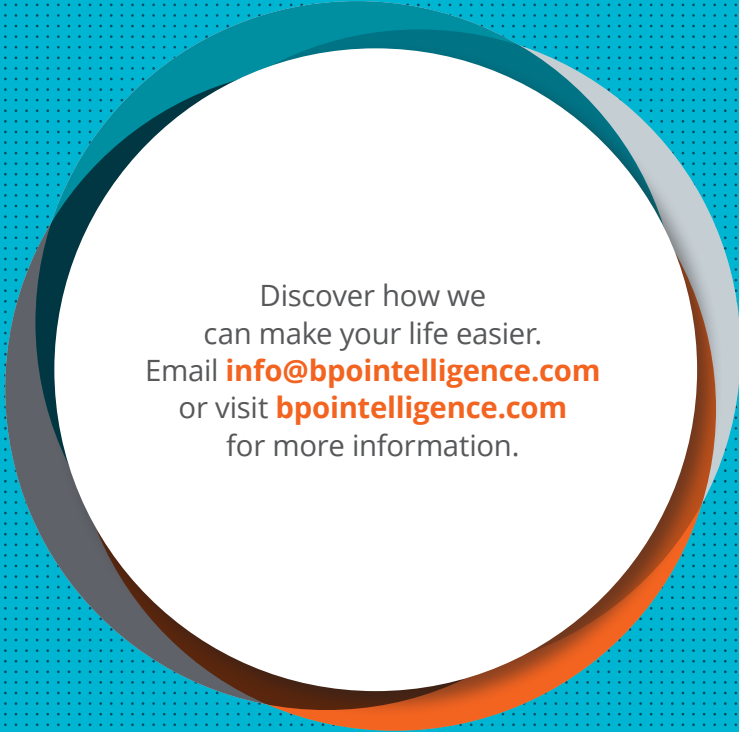

We go beyond printing

Our clients enjoy unparalleled customer service and piece of mind thanks to our end-to-end, single supplier model.
